VALUATION - LIABILITY

1. NOTICE TO SHIPPER ABOUT SHIPMENT VALUATION: The basic liability for loss or damage to an article that is transported or warehoused is 60 cents per pound per article. The charges for transportation and/or warehousing are based upon that liability because carrier does not know the value of the goods. This liability is far less than the average value of household goods. As an example, if your shipment weighs 12,000 pounds, the maximum recovery that you would receive if the entire shipment were lost or totally damaged would be $7200.00.

2. INCREASE THE LIABILITY TO THE FULL REPLACEMENT VALUE: If the shipper wants the carrier to be liable for the full replacement value of any articles that are lost or damaged, shipper must state in writing on the estimate/bill of lading the replacement value of the entire shipment. Replacement value is the market cost of replacement of any lost or damaged article(s). If shipper fails to state the replacement value then the maximum liability of carrier is 60 cents per pound per article.

3. EXTRAORDINARY (UNUSUAL) VALUE ARTICLES: If the shipment contains any item that is of a value in excess of $100.00 per pound such an item must be specifically identified and declared. If this is not done then the maximum liability of carrier will be limited to $100.00 per pound per article under the full replacement option. Identified extraordinary articles will be subject to additional charges.

- (a) Carrier has the option to repair the article or to pay the amount of loss at either 60 cents per pound or replacement depending on shipper selection of valuation.
- (b) If shipper undervalues the shipment, any payment for a loss will be reduced by the percentage amount of the undervalue.
